What Happens if You Don't Tell Your Family About Your Estate Plan? Understanding the Consequences

When it comes to estate planning, one of the most important things you can do is have an estate plan. While that may seem obvious enough, in addition to having an estate plan, communicating with those impacted by your estate plan is a crucial step as well.

But what if you do not communicate with your loved ones about your estate plan? Doing so can lead to a host of consequences, detailed further below.

January is International Quality of Life Month!

International Quality of Life Month is observed in January — a time that focuses on how people can improve the quality of the life they are currently living. But, you may ask, how is that possible? Well, there is always something that you can do in your life to make it better. This can include a daily walk, trying a new hobby, giving up on bad habits, or give yourself and your loved ones piece of mind by creating an estate plan. Yes, this is the time you commit to improving your life and of those around you. The aim is to achieve happiness in any way that you can!
